1. Introduction

Bihar and Odisha, two culturally rich and densely populated states of India, faces significant challenges in the welfare of orphaned and vulnerable children. Poverty, natural disasters, disease, and social inequality have left many children without parental care, exposing them to risks such as malnutrition, lack of education, and social neglect. The absence of a family environment makes them vulnerable to neglect, exploitation, and social exclusion. Without adequate support systems, these children struggle to access basic needs and opportunities for personal growth.

The project aims to provide a safe, nurturing, and empowering environment for orphan children in the states of Bihar and Odisha. It focuses on their holistic development through education, health care, skill training, and emotional rehabilitation. By creating a supportive ecosystem, the project seeks to help these children lead dignified and self-reliant lives, enabling them to become responsible and contributing members of society.

3. Background of the Entity

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animal (SPCA) non-profit, voluntary organization established with the primary objective of providing care, protection, and holistic development opportunities to orphaned and vulnerable children. The society was founded by a group of socially committed individuals who recognized the urgent need to support children deprived of parental care and a safe family environment.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animal (SPCA) was founded to ensuring that orphan children have access to basic necessities such as food, shelter, clothing, education, and healthcare. In collaboration with government agencies, local communities, and other non-governmental organizations to implement welfare programs aimed at child protection, education, skill development, and rehabilitation. Through its continuous efforts, the society strives to create a sustainable support system that enables orphan children to become independent, responsible, and contributing members of society. Registered under the Societies Registration Act and holding tax exemptions under Sections 12A and 80G of the Income Tax Act, 1961, the Society is well-positioned to mobilize resources and implement impactful projects. Its financial transparency is ensured through regular audits by qualified Chartered Accountants.

4. Mission Statement

The mission of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animal (SPCA):

“To provide care, protection, and equal opportunities for orphaned and vulnerable children by ensuring their physical, emotional, educational, and social well-being. The society is committed to empowering these children through education, skill development, and rehabilitation so that they can lead self-reliant and dignified lives.”

Through compassion, dedication, and community participation, the society strives to create a safe and nurturing environment where every orphan child can realize their full potential and become a responsible and productive member of society.

5. Vision Statement

The vision statement for a Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animal (SPCA): generally focuses on ensuring care, support, protection, and opportunities for orphaned children to become valued members of society. One example from a similar organization. The Orphanage project is:

"Our vision is to one day have a self-sustaining community consisting of a children's home, school, training centre, women's shelter, elderly person's home, hospital, library, park, play fields, and other facilities that help a community to succeed. We envision establishing such communities all over the world"

6. Executive Summary

This ambitious of the project, with a total budget of 500.00 Crore, SPCA focus on law enforcement, welfare, protection, and holistic development of orphaned and vulnerable children.

Components:

These components work together to create a legal, social, and ethical environment for care of orphaned children.

1. Shelter and Basic Needs

Providing safe and secure residential facilities for orphan children, including food, clothing, and sanitation. The aim is to create a home-like environment that ensures comfort, safety, and emotional stability.

2. Education and Learning Support

Ensuring access to quality education through formal schooling, non-formal education, and special learning programs. The society also provides tuition support, learning materials, and digital education to enhance academic performance.

3. Health Care and Nutrition

Providing regular health check-ups, immunizations, and medical assistance. Special attention is given to nutrition through balanced meals, health awareness programs, and hygiene promotion activities.

4. Emotional and Psychological Support

Offering counseling, mentorship, and recreational activities to support the emotional well-being of children. This helps them overcome trauma, build confidence, and develop a positive outlook toward life.

5. Skill Development and Vocational Training

Organizing skill training and vocational programs for older children to prepare them for self-employment or job opportunities. Training includes computer literacy, tailoring, handicrafts, and other employable skills.

6. Social Integration and Rehabilitation

Facilitating the reintegration of children into families or communities wherever possible. The society works with social workers and local authorities to ensure safe and supportive placements.

7. Awareness and Advocacy

Conducting awareness campaigns and community outreach programs to promote child rights, prevent child neglect, and encourage community participation in child welfare activities.

8. Monitoring and Evaluation

Regular assessment of program outcomes and impact to ensure transparency, accountability, and continuous improvement in service delivery.

7. Objectives:

1. Provide Shelter and Basic Needs

To ensure that orphaned and abandoned children have access to safe housing, nutritious food, clean water, and proper clothing.

2. Ensure Access to Quality Education

To enroll all orphan children in formal education and provide necessary academic support, including tuition, books, and uniforms.

3. Promote Health and Well-being

To offer regular health checkups, immunizations, and psychological counseling to improve both physical and mental health.

4. Provide Emotional and Psychological Support

To create a nurturing environment where children receive love, guidance, and counseling to overcome trauma, neglect, or loss.

5. Develop Life Skills and Vocational Training

To equip older children with life skills, vocational training, and career guidance for future independence and self-reliance.

6. Ensure Social Inclusion and Protection

To protect orphan children from abuse, exploitation, and discrimination, and to integrate them into the community with dignity.

7. Promote Adoption and Foster Care

To identify suitable families and facilitate legal adoption or foster care placements, providing children with a permanent family environment.

8. Empower Through Participation

To encourage children to participate in decisions affecting their lives, promoting leadership, confidence, and responsibility.

9. Strengthen Institutional Capacity

To build effective management systems, trained staff, and sustainable funding for the continued operation of the project.

10. Raise Public Awareness and Advocacy

To sensitize communities and policymakers about the rights and needs of orphan children, promoting child welfare policies and support systems.

8. Legal and Financial Compliance

The Society adheres to all statutory norms applicable to NGOs in India. Key compliance measures include:

- Conducting all financial transactions through the designated bank account at the Bank of India, Rairangpur Branch.
